The Pegasus

In memory of Walter Dennis Berry

It is often the case that things are not properly understood or appreciated until they are gone. Dennis Berry was an exception to this rule. If you knew Denny, you could not help noticing that there was something different about him, something special. Maybe it was in those powdered drinks he constantly made himself in his office. Whatever it was, Denny had it, and we all know about it. I hope the following pictures help you remember Denny and everything about him. Denny - this is for you.

President Toll waves to the crowd!

Following last years return of Legacy Day, this years festivities were better than ever. Included in the parade were the WC Men's Division III National Lacrosse Champions, the first ever Women's Varsity Soccer Team, the Health Services Hummer, and a host of other floats and participants. Legacy weekend this year also included Parent's day which drew more participation.

I just wanted to thank my parents for without their encouragement and support I would not be here today. Thanks to my mom for teaching me that the world is my oyster and instilling in me the courage to pursue my dreams.

I'm leaving Washington College with a lifetime of memories and the knowledge that through the many wonderful friendships I've made I've grown as an individual. I think all the special people who have impacted my life know who they are. Thanks.

It has been two quick years but I have done, seen, and accomplished a lot. I would like to thank my parents, for sticking by every decision that I made and also for keeping mean track. Taatii, Ammi you mean the world to me and chisha you will always be the girl of my life, what ever I have I have because of you all.

I would like to thank professor Davy McCall for helping me under stand the WAC way of life. I thoroughly appreciate all what you have done for me. To Filip and Dents, our times and talks are unforgettable, I'll always treasure your friendship, no matter how far away you are you are my friends for life. To Raj what can I say but thanks machang for always being there, you are a true friend , you know I would do the same. To Eric working with you helped me understand college and people better. Thanks for all your help and advice. I hope we get to work together in the future. To Flow and Malissa thanks for helping me out and trying to bring my weigh down. Rok machang I really go to know you when you came to Sri Lanka. I know we will meet up again in the future. To all my Sri Lankan friends and to every one else who has been there along the way , Thank you.

A simple, heart-felt thank you to my family and the friends I have made here at WAC. You made this experience meaningful and special. Mom, you kept me motivated when I wanted to give up and continued to bring a sense of perspective to my life. Dad, you are the wise and all-knowing! Anna, a bond of friendship has formed between us that I treasure. Marissa, you brought a sense of humor into my life that I will never forget! I am grateful to have a friend in both of you. Frank, you are the light in my life that keeps me focused and I love you. Thank you for supporting everything I have done! I love you all!

"The only thing I ever saw that came close to Objective Journalism was a closed-circuit TV setup in the General Store at Woody Creek, Colorado. I always admired that machine, but I noticed that nobody paid much attention to it until one of those known, heavy, out-front shoplifters came into the place...but when that happened, everybody got so excited that the thief had to do something quick, like buy a green popsicle or a can of Coors and get out of the place immediately. So much for Objective Journalism."

Cecilia: Stop buying my clothes! And no, that is not new! You and Amal both better stay in touch. Right?! yes?! correct?!...oh, I'm sorry, I'm sorry! Lyd: I can't even think of a pithy soundbite for a friend who has known me since the very first week of my goofy freshman year. God, are we old or what? Tracey: RA extraordinaire. I think it would be more fun though if you let me give out the fines. Fine for inadequate alcohol consumption: one million dollars. Jamie, Suzanne, and Leigh: My crazy OAS friends...so how many Tiffany lamps are there in the building? What is life after Nancy...? Gretchen, Sanji, and Corina, in absentia: You're not here, but I couldn't leave you out. I miss you all. Corina, thanks for being the best roomie ever, and putting up with my messiness, fussiness, and just plain obnoxiousness. My birds are a poor substitution... Sanji, I haven't been able to pour my own milk since you left. And you may think that you are older and wiser, but I still insist it's only four months! Gretchen, don't worry, you haven't seen the last of me...next year, forget about working on your thesis...ha! Learn from Amal and me, masters of procrastination...Finally, to the four most important people in my life: Mom and Dad, I guess a few words in a yearbook can't adequately express my love and gratitude to you, but I thank you for everything you have done for me. You know I wouldn't and couldn't be here without you. Ken and Gid, I don't think a girl could be any luckier than I am, to have such loving and protective big brothers. Mom and Dad, thank you for being supportive of me through the good and bad times. I wouldn't be where I am today if it wasn't for the both of you telling me that, "of course I can do it, the question is do I want to." I love you both and Ginger too. I wanted to say to my WC friends, you know who you are, that I have had a great 4 years and you are one of the major reasons that has made them so special. It's the funny times from certain friends that I remember the most, such as the park, OC and the pool. But, it is my best friend Jenny that has gotten me through the best and worst times here at school and I would like to thank her for being there as a friend and as a sister, LYS. Mom, words cannot express the love and appreciation that I have for you. Over the past four years, you have been my inspiration and guiding light. Thanks for being the best friend and mother anyone could ever have! You know what I mean, man? Wanna go for ice cream? Dad, thanks for all of your support over the past four years. You have given me the courage to do anything that I put my heart into! Big T, thanks for being there for me over the past four years. You truly are a great friend. Good luck to you and Cliff and I look forward to all of the good times we will have in the future (especially at "Baja," ha ha!). Love ya, Lil H. Eric, "You are the love of my life!" I love you more than words can express. I look forward to all of the exciting years that we have ahead of us. Thanks for all of your love, support, and patience over the past year. You truly are my best friend and "Forever Love." Jerk!!! Gran, you are the most fortunate woman alive. It takes me proud to be your granddaughter. Thanks for all of your love and support over the years. I love you very much. Poppy, even though you are not with us, your spirit is alive in my heart. You have given me a gift for which I will forever be grateful. You are my angel.

Welcome to life. If it doesn't kill you, it's not that bad. Just do it.

want to first of all thank my parents and family for all of your love and support. I never could have done this without all of your encouragement and never ending belief in me. You always knew I could do it, even when I doubted myself. Thank you for showing me how much I could achieve. Jimmy-even if you're no longer at WC, you have to be included. Your year here was the best, I know even Cliff would agree. I'll never forget the cardinal party, the memories, and all of the Hells Bells we raised. WC was never quite the same after you left! H-What can I say, thanks for all of the Wednesday night Baja's over the summer, a-chem toasts, midnight ocean trips just for Christmas lights, and for always being there to listen when I needed a friend. I hope we always stay this close. And last, but definitely not least, to Cliff. In two years you became everything to me. I guarantee I wouldn't be this happy today without you. You never let me down, and I know you never will. Enjoy your last year at WC, and know that I'll be waiting for you once you're done. We now finally have forever! Lisa you have no idea how much influence you have had on me in such a short time; I look forward to the years to come of our friendship.

The Greeley's: Thanks for the Summer of 96, I have so many fond memories of RADO. Meg thanks so much especially for your support during the NatureScape debacle. Bob don't believe in that trickle down economic stuff, Penny; I can't tell you how much you have meant to me since that summer or much you have helped me realize the more important things in life.

PDT: There are to many memories to write down not to mention those I cannot remember even when I try. ACG, JRM, ART, BIM, CLB...what the hell were we thinking in the upper 8. Wherever I end up, I will always take a piece of you guys with me. Andrew, this might sum up our four years here together at the WAC... "Hey Rew did you have a good time last night?" "I don't know from what I hear I did..." "...yea me too!"

Maggy: Thank you and I'll always remember you....Tomorrow I'll be gone...

WAC lax: To all the guys I played with over my four years, thanks for all the good times and memories. Good luck in the years to come.

A journey ends another begins.
Time flies no matter what.
Carpe Diem, because you never know what will happen tomorrow.

It's been a great four years and I've enjoyed every minute of it. I don't know where I'd be without my friends and family. Mom and Dad, you have given me so much more than a son could have ever asked for. I love you both very much. Claus, besides being my sister you have been a great friend. Ya Hey Carl, thanks for being such a great friend now and forever. I've always been able to count on you. Jason, Dumb and Dumber (you and I), I don't think I've ever goofed off as much in my life until I met you. Lenny, we became friends very fast, but we'll surely be friends forever. And now I've saved the best for last. Karen, you're everything I could have ever wanted in a woman and so much more. Words cannot express how much you mean to me. I have loved you all my life. Who knew I'd end up with a sorority chic.

There are places I remember all my life,
 though some have changed,
 the Forever, Not for better,
 some have gone and some remain.
 These places had their moments with lovers and friends I still can recall.
 Some are dead and some are living.
 In my life I've loved them all.

To My Family, You have been my angels here on earth . Your guiding love has inspired and uplifted me. You have taught me not to take anything for granted. Please know that your values have been instilled and I truly cherish every moment God allows us to spend with each other. I love you with all my heart and soul ELENA, ALISON, SARAH, and the Harford Crew, I have gone to each of you time and again and without judgment you have supported me when I have needed you. In weakness, you have been my strength. When I look back at Washington I will laugh and smile fondly remembering the memories our crossed paths have shared. I love you more than words can say.
 Dick, My Dad always told me never to settle and I want you to know you have truly swept me off my feet. We have often wondered; "How many times before now have our paths crossed?" I don't really know, but what I do know is that you are the most genuine blessing that has ever been bestowed upon me and I thank God for you everyday. Our journeys have finally converged and I can't wait to spend forever with you. "I love you" doesn't even begin to explain what I feel.

I can't believe that I made it here, but apparently miracles do happen. My years here have been the most incredible of my life. The funny thing is that all the "adults" told me that it would be that way when I was going off, and of course I didn't really believe them. Well they were right.

I have a few simple thank yous. First and foremost I will always love Kappa Alpha Order and my brothers in this chapter. My best friends know who they are. I will always be in debt to the Drama department for giving me a reason to care about my education, and to have a chance after college at being somebody. Last, but not least, I will eternally be in debt to my parents who made everything possible.

I dedicate everything to my departed grandmother who was equally responsible for making me a whole person.

My two cents --College life is filled with constant change; because there are times when we feel enormous pressure, face major decisions, endure heartache, and struggle forward, life is sometimes best dealt with by taking a nap.

To my family --Your unconditional love, understanding and support has enabled me to grow from an innocent son into the man that loves you today. Thank you for making me and this experience possible --And to my Brothers and friends for making it memorable --Thanks for sharing the times.

"The rewards of the journey far outweigh the risk of leaving the harbor."

This was the most important lesson of college for me, maybe the hardest to learn. Whether academics, rowing, or friends, the joy they brought was always worth any pain or aggravation that came along with it. Try not to miss anything because you're afraid of the consequences -- "drink life to the lees!"

To all the friends I've made here - the ones who have already gone, the ones leaving with me, and the ones staying behind - I don't think you'll ever know how much you all mean to me...so just take my word for it!

To my coaches and the crew team, especially "RJ's girls" - I wouldn't have stuck around this long if not for you! You're all the best! "Come, my friends...Push off, and sitting well in order smite the sounding furrows" -Tennyson.

Dad - Thank you for (almost) never doubting me and loving me no matter what. I'm a very lucky daughter. David - I hope the next 4 years are as good to you as the last 4 have been for me. You've got great times ahead!

Many thanks to my Mom, Karen, and my Grandparents. You were always there when I needed you, and you will never know how much I appreciate you. Thanks to the Rodney family, for being the best second family anyone could ever have.

Marianne, thanks for being a coolio roommate and friend, what can I say.... you're simply the best! Abby and Jen, you guys are the greatest without you and Kicks.. WC would not have been nearly as fun! This one, without a doubt, is for my Dad.

First, I would like to thank my parents for convincing me that I could survive living in Chestertown for four more years. I met Kendall, the coolest person in the universe. Thank you Kendall for helping me to figure out how to be cool. You're the greatest! Lastly, I would like to thank my soulmate for being there for me every step of the way. Thank you David.

 I think that I am just going to let you all in on a few secrets that I have learned in my LONG years here...
 I have always thought that..."There's someone in my head and it's not me." --Pink Floyd
 Mark Twain's philosophy that "When angry, count to four. When very angry, swear," is also a good thing to remember....
 I all need to remember that "We can't all be heroes because somebody has to sit on the curb and clap as they go by." --Will Rogers

And what would a senior blurb be without saying something about our friends, "When friends stop being frank and useful to each other, the world loses some of its radiance." --Anatole Broyard
 I've learned a lot, but Robert Frost said it best ; "In three words I can sum up everything I've learned about life. It goes on."
 In the end it all comes back to the things that your friends are going to remember most about you, for me it would be a quote that a friend introduced me to a couple of years ago, "I hate stupid people, for it is stupid people that cannot understand sarcasm."
 In the end I have to say, this ones for you Di....

My family and friends, Thank you all for standing by me in good times and bad, you all mean the world to me. Some of my greatest memories come from my Brothers, I love every one of you...Proud to be a Phi. I've always believed that life is measured less by where you are than by who you're with. Fortunately, I was blessed with both.

I always expected
That you should see me through
I never believed in much
But I believed in you.

There is a spot that you can't scratch
Right between your shoulder blades,
Like an egg that just won't hatch
Here you set and there it stays.
Turn and squirm and try to reach it,
Twist your neck and bend your back,
Hear your elbows creak and crack,
Stretch your fingers, now you bet it's Going to reach--no that won't get it--
Hold your breath and stretch and pray,
Only just an inch away,
Worse than a sunbeam you can't catch
Is that one spot that
You can't scratch.

So be sure when you step.
 Step with care and great tact
 And remeber that Life 's a Great Balancing Act.
 And will you succeed?
 Yes! You will, indeed!

Thanks to the those who have shaped me during my time here. To everyone who was able to make our experience a unique one, I also thank you. To my parents who endured many "issues" along the road to graduation, I can never repay you. To all my sisters and brother I love you. Alice and Amy keep up the stein legacy here at the WaC. And finely thanks to all those with whom I've created music.

"Shout-outs" (yeah, I know I am a bamma):

First and foremost, I would like to thank God. As I look back I see that one set of footprints in the sands of my life, I know that you carried me all the way; Thank you to Mom and Dad, you've been my examples, my friends, and my bank account. I owe this degree to you two peoples. I love you guys!; To my first, last, and only real love, Thomas, Jr.: You are my rock, my true strength, my true love, all I could ever ask for. Here's to us, our future, and a happy marriage (what was that date again?). I couldn't have done this without you're always being there for me. I love you, Boo!; To Angel, my big sis', keep your head up! Perfection takes time, you know? Love Ya; Tiffany, you are my inspiration to go on, love you; The Calhoun Family, they say that home is where the heart is, so thank you for giving me another place to call home. Love y'all; I Brock, Christine, Tangel, Jessie, Tommy, and Lauraz, thank you for helping me to stay focused on God and understand my mission in the midst of a real devil's workshop. I love you guys!; My senior family, Baby, Andreenaquita, Tika, & Tyrone, and all the rest of you; Thanks for all the laughs Ty, and being a great friend, good luck to you and Jaime (the ghetto pronunciation); Ieta Pi and the 1-D family, The SGA (you guys have been interesting to say the least); The BSA, The Cleos (my sisters with love), the WC Gospel Choir and Dave, the Pep Squad, all of my brothers and sisters coming up behind me, especially Princess Shaunda, Tara and Pilar (for all the laughs); L my special sisters, Terri (the best roommate and friend anyone could have), Lita (make love, not war), Kia (eat your hair), and everyone who'll say "why didn't you mention me?"; eah, you got problems but thanks for the education; My sisters for life, Aretha and Sherri-Berri; Phyllis & Robert for y'all's guidance, love, and example; Jackie, and my American Studies peoples (Jackie, it's because you're white :O)); Mr. Petty and Mr. Williams, you'll both always have a special place in my heart; Peaches, LYLAS, I'll miss you terribly; Sara my other Mommy, I love you; Queen Dean Mc, you reign above all the college; Queen Diane Larrimore, thank you for the ENDLESS HELP, I love you babes; Adelle, thank you for being a sister-friend, love ya woman!; all of my MANY former employers, the best teachers, Deprospro, Lobo, Wilson to Jerome and Barb for always feedin' a sister with love and 'tude, love yall;

Christine: "You know Black people draw heat."

Tyrone: "Well that's what the campus racial climate was really all about."

These 4 years were the best and worst times of my life, but was it worth it? We'll see. I couldn't have done it without the support from my family. To my dad, my grandparents, and my sister, you gave me the strength to make it through these expensive learning experiences and I love you all for it.

Colleena and Cat-you kept me almost sane since freshman year. It has been fun, see ya at the weddings!

to my cowboy-1...2...3...you're out says me!! You will always be in my heart.

First I would like to give all honor and glory to God for allowing me to make it this far. Now to everyone who is anyone who was there for me on the days when I wanted to quit I would like to say thanks (Terri G., Diane L., Dennis Berry R.I.P., & the Math Department). To Melania you have a long senior year ahead of you but you will make it because you are smart, and don't mind staying up for 5 nights in a row to understand the subject. If you ever need anything I will only be a phone call away. To my mother and father I would like to thank you both for your sacrifices to get me here and keep me here. To my grandparents I am going to miss the weekend visits and I thank you for all of your support. To my aunt Bert, I guess this ends your weekend getaways to C-town, but your presence here over the last 4 years helped me make it through. And last but definitely not least, to my future husband Charles A. Frazier Jr. we are finally on our way. I thank you for accepting my attitudes when my classes had me down. I thank you for cleaning up my room when I didn't have the time. I thank you for driving me to work when I was too tired to do it myself. Most of all I thank you for being my very best friend and the best thing to ever happen to me. I may not tell you as often as I should but I appreciate and love you with all that I am and I look forward to spending the rest of my life with you. I leave to WC all of the struggling that I had to endure to get here.

A special thank you to all those who believed in me and helped make a reality the incredible Washington College experience I have enjoyed: God, the love of my life Jamie, my family, Judge John Sause, David McIntire, Green McIntire, Diane Larimore and all of my closest friends--you know who you are.

Oh, and thanks for the public encouragement President Bush. You're not so bad yourself. If you would like a copy of my resume...

A very special thank you to all my surrogate moms (you know who you are--hint, Student Affairs, Prevention Center, etc.) who were there during all my potential nervous breakdowns. Your great advice, kind words and listening ears are appreciated more than you will ever know. Thanks for helping me grow and for never allowing me to doubt my potential.

To the administration--thanks for putting up with me during my two year reign of terror as SGA President. Guess what--the College is a better place, and we did it together! Also, you all taught me so much (some good, some bad--but ALL worth learning).

To those who think Washington College is perfect and needs no continuous attention as to ways to improve. Kick yourself a few times and then let reality set in. Positive change is a good thing. Keep it coming.

To the student body: don't you dare lose the momentum we've built. Don't forget the institution would not be without you. That means you have all the power in the world. Use it wisely and make your Washington College experience as awesome as mine was!

ZETA TAU ALPHA

The sisters of Zeta Tau Alpha had a wonderful 1998-99 school year. President Erin Reed and vice-president Meredith Lutz, traveled to Virginia to a convention to celebrate ZTA's 100th birthday. At the convention, Gamma Beta received a financial excellence award, crown chapter honors, and a silver award for New Member planning. The Zeta's were also awarded with the Loving Cup, for having the highest all-sorority GPA on the Washington College campus. The sisters successfully completed several community projects, which included supporting their national philanthropy-The Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation. Other service projects included Lee Denim Day, Relay for Life, and the annual Easter Egg Hunt at Worton Montessori School. The sisters celebrated the year with two fun formals in both the fall and the spring. Zeta Tau Alpha would like to wish the best of luck to their graduating seniors, they will be greatly missed!!

ALPHA OMICRON PI

Alpha Omicron Pi has had a busy year. We've taken part in numerous philanthropic activities on campus and in the community such as: the AIDS Walk, collecting canned foods during Thanksgiving, adopting a family for Christmas, collecting clothes for hurricane victims, raising funds for a local child in need of a food pump, the Bat Project, Adopt-A-Highway, and the MS Walk. We were all excited to renovate our chapter room this year; it really looks great!!! AOPi sisters have been active individuals on campus, and off. Many sisters are honor students, and belong to student organizations such as Terra Firma, the Investment Club, the Concert Choir, ODK, Hands Out, the RA program, Target Tutoring, the SGA, and some sisters are even SAMS. Our sister Aimee Ball is also the Head Ranger on campus, and gives tree tours through the Virginia Gent Decker Arboretum program. This year has also been a very successful one for our sister athletes too. A good majority of our sisters can be found playing lacrosse, soccer, softball, rugby, and field hockey and contributing to some wins for our school. In addition to being so active on campus, we have also been keeping in touch with our alumni. On Birthday Ball weekend, several alums were visiting and we all celebrated by having our first annual "Alumni Brunch". During the spring semester, we missed Jess Sierra who has been studying abroad in Costa Rica. We have thirteen sisters graduating this semester, and we will miss them immensely! It has been a successful year, but more importantly we have all had a blast just being together as sisters.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

The sisters of Alpha Chi Omega, Beta Pi chapter, have much to be proud of this year. The majority of our sisters have received commendable recognition in areas such as academics, athletics, and campus life. In November we hosted our annual fund raiser, Casino Night. This was perhaps one of our greatest accomplishments because we raised over 600 dollars for our national philanthropy, Women of Domestic Violence. Alpha Chi Omega was also able to help locally by donating items to nearby shelters for victims of domestic violence. Some of the other service acts sisters participate in are the MS walk, Christmas caroling at Magnolia Hall, and helping out the local Humane Society. Once again Rush went well this year. We initiated 4 new members in the Fall and met quota with 10 in the Spring. Alpha Chi Omega takes pride in the number of sisters who have been recognized for outstanding achievement. Scholastically, we have sisters who are members of prestigious scholastic honor societies such as BBB and ODK. Many have made the Dean's List every semester. Besides academics, we have sisters who excel in athletics. Numerous sisters have received player of the week more than once, and Christyl Johnson-Arrabal was named to the First Team All Conference for field hockey. We have many leaders within Alpha Chi. Some are SAMs and others are involved in student government, like Erica Spiegle, SGA's new secretary. Alpha Chi Omega is proud of all of its members and so we like to end the year in celebration by having our traditional Dinner Dance.

At this time, the sisters of Alpha Chi Omega would like to wish our graduating seniors the best of luck in the future -- you will be missed but not forgotten.

FRATERNITIES

PHI DELTA THETA

The 1998-1999 academic year proved to be one of Phi Delta Theta's finest. The fall semester opened up with our annual fund raiser, the Phi Delt Crabfeast. This year we held our 9th annual Feast and it proved to be the most profitable; we are definitely looking forward to celebrating next year's with the slogan, "It's been a ten years and we still have crabs!" Also during the first semester, Phi Delta Theta was honored with the Washington College Loving Cup, which is given annually to the fraternity and sorority which have the highest grade point average during the previous academic year. In addition to having the highest GPA of the college's fraternities, 15 Phi Delt's play a role on several of Washington College's varsity athletic teams. Seven Phi's played a major part in the winning of the 1998 NCAA Division III Men's Lacrosse Championship. The remaining athletes play an integral role on our Men's Crew Team which, last spring, medaled in several very prestigious races. Phi Delta Theta is also represented in the Rho Iota chapter of Beta Beta Beta, the biological honor society. During the Spring of 1999, two Phi's, Chris Petrone and Joe Dominick, were inducted into WC's Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa, the national honor society which recognizes student leadership and scholarship.

Under a brand-new executive board, headed by President Mike Storke, Phi Delta Theta is preparing for another great year next year as we approach the turn of the century and become Washington College's first alcohol-free fraternity.

KAPPA ALPHA ORDER

KA has had a very productive year at Washington College. During the first semester we raised approximately 200 dollars for our national philanthropy, the Muscular Dystrophy Association. We also partook in some community service--along with the ZTA's we held our annual Easter egg hunt and our annual Christmas party for the local children, and some other brothers participated in activities such as swimming with the local children, helping the historic society, working on the Sultana, and much more.

Athletically we had a great year too. We had a sailor that was a part of the inaugural varsity team and a member of the national bound tennis team. After the winter break, we continued to have success during the second semester. We had one member, Teris, elected to the position of Treasurer for the SGA. The renovations of Talbot, that were started by Eric Anderson and Daniel Jacobson, are under way and will be finished by the school. We held our annual Beach Bash that was one of the greatest turn-outs in history. We wish the best to the graduating seniors in all their future endeavors: Timothy Yackley, Ronald Riskie, Eric Johnson, Brian Erickson, and Travis Allen. We look forward to having another very productive year.

THETA CHI

This year Theta Chi has participated in many activities. These activities range from volunteering at Special Olympics events, organizing a benefit event for the Chestertown Humane Society, participating in the Adopt-a-Road program, and teaching a group of local third-graders how to swim. The brothers also co-sponsored a concert to benefit a young Cerebral Palsy victim, Ashley Crew, to help her family buy a desperately needed feeding pump. The chapter has also provided funds, time, and effort, to sponsor faculty and student receptions for campus events, and to support a campus-wide lecture series that focused on the alcohol and drug-related issues that face today's college students.

The brothers of the Beta Eta chapter also participated in four different varsity sports, represented their peers on several Standing Faculty Committees of the college, and were involved in a variety of clubs and organizations. Not surprisingly, the brothers frequently rise to positions of leadership in these organizations; Beta Eta Chapter members currently hold the Presidential, Secretarial, and Social Chair positions in the I.F.C., serve as Resident Assistants, Orientation Leaders, and members in our SAM Program, and are captains for two of our NCAA-III athletic teams.

The Chapter most recently posted a combined grade point average of 2.90 which placed them in a tie for the distinction of having the highest G.P.A. among all campus-based men's organizations.

A Fight to the end...

The WC field hockey team came out fighting this year to show the region that they were definitely a solid all-around team. Questionably the women did not receive a much deserved bid to the CAA playoffs. However, they did have a bittersweet first-year win over Salisbury State University in double overtime. Their performance was spectacular, ending with a 15-3 record, 7-2 in the Conference, and tying for second place. They had two seven game winning streaks and three straight shutouts. Many of the girls' talents were recognized by being named to the Conference Honor Roll. This year's team had five seniors including co-captain M. Paré, co-captain V. Ganzman, H. Cranmer, E. Gillin, and A. Norbury. Paré finished her career by being named an Astro-Turf/NFHCA Division III second-team All-American and by playing in the North/South Senior All-Star Game. Paré, junior Christyl Arrabal, and junior Quincy Miles were named first-team all-Centennial Conference. Sophomore goalie Toby Wilmet received second-team all-conference honors while sophomore Nicki Maccari was honorable mention all-Conference. Both Paré and Wilmet were named Astro Turf/National Field Hockey Coaches Association Division III South Region first-team All-Americans. Miles was a repeat recipient of second-team regional All-American honors. Offensively it must be noted that Arrabal broke the single-season points record (35), and her own record for goals in a season with 13. Despite losing key players, the team has many returning players including even returning starters. The Shorewomen have proven to be an inspirational team and serious contenders for tournament play in the future.

A First Ever!

Students and faculty witnessed history this fall, as for the first time ever, the Washington College Women's Soccer Team took the field. The Shorewomen secured two exciting victories this year: a 4-0 shut-out against Shepherd and an overtime win against Bryn Mawr. Kristin Samuel led the team's scoring with 2 goals and an assist, while Marissa Smithson and Kerry O'Keefe each netted 2 goals as well. Kristin Hill, Ileine Sanchez, Nicole White, Quin Bowman, and Chrissy Butcher all scored one goal, while Stephanie Cernak and Melissa Piper both earned assists. Goalie Nicola Ventresca performed remarkably in the backfield, boasting 206 saves and a .772 save percentage.

While they suffered some tough losses, their record speaks neither for their spirit nor for their potential. The team consisted largely of freshman and sophomores, and as their skills develop and Coach Eleanor Shriver recruits, the team should look very strong over the upcoming years.

Another season...

Under second-year head coach Lin Outten, WC Men's Soccer enjoyed its best Centennial Conference record since 1995, 5-4. The team boasted an overall record of 10-7, and finished their campaign with three consecutive victories, including a 5-0 shut-out against Swarthmore.

Forward Justin Daniel led the offense with 16 goals and eight assists, place second in the conference for both goals and points, and tied a conference single-goal record, netting four against Ursinus. Dan Gerbasi followed suit with 11 goals and 5 assists for a total of 27 points, while John Jenkins, Michael Lunn, and Jason Usilton all added at least 6 points.

Led by senior captains John Ferro and Travis Beauchamp, WC's defense proved formidable, allowing only 27 goals. As goalie, Beauchamp boasted a 1.60 goals against average and earned All-Conference honors, while Ferro earned Second-Team All-Conference honors.

The five seniors from this year's team will be hard to replace. But a strong group of talented players will return next year, including defensemen Cassell, Fohl, Batelka, and Raker, midfielders Lunn and Hastings, forwards Jenkins, Daniel, and Usilton, as well as goalkeeper John Steere.

A challenging but exciting season for women's V'ball

Regardless of the ups and downs,

Spike That Ball!

the Washington College women's volleyball team had another exhilarating season of matches. By the end of the year, the team proved itself and won three out of the last seven matches, including two home Centennial Conference contests. The team had several promising players, including senior tri-captain and middle hitter Heather Pyzik. Pyzik was ranked eighth in the Centennial Conference in kills per game and seventh in blocks. To end her senior career, she was named an Honorable Mention Centennial Conference all-star. Another tri-captain, senior outside hitter Takako Saito was an important key in many ways this year. Saito contributed 15 digs in the final home match of her career against Dickinson helping the team to a 3-2 victory. Sophomore outside hitter Kate Bierzonski was the team's other tri-captain aiding remarkably in kills and aces. In the Centennial Conference, she ranked sixth in kills per game for overall matches. Other vital members of the team included junior setter Katie Snyder finishing first on the team in setting assists. Sophomore Taylor Crocker led the team in blocks with 149, and was also ranked second in the Centennial Conference in blocks for overall matches. Junior outside hitter Jordan Holt continued to improve placing second on the team with digs and service aces. Sophomore outside hitter Jamie Crouse and defense specialist Stephanie Fowler assisted the team immensely with digs and blocks and service aces. The Shorewomen played hard this season and hope to increase their skills even more next year. Congrats to the players graduating and good luck to those who will return to the team next fall!!!

A Glance Back...

The Shorewomen closed out their 1998-99 campaign with a 15-9 overall record with a conference record of 9-6, including eight wins in their last 12 games. Their final game of the season came with a disappointing playoff loss to nationally-ranked Johns Hopkins. However, Washington's appearance this season in the Centennial Conference playoffs was a great feat for the team seeing that it was their first appearance since 1994-95, which was just the second year of the women's basketball program at the school.

The season had its ups and downs, but overall, was a positive one for the girls. The team opened the 1998-99 season by hosting its own Second Annual ShoTime Shootout tip-off tournament. The Shorewomen took second place after initially beating Wesley College and then losing to Albright College in the championship game. The team went 6-3 for the first semester suffering two tough losses to both St. Mary's and Johns Hopkins. The Shorewomen started on second semester trying to improve their conference record of 1-1. Unfortunately two tough straight losses to Franklin & Marshall and rival Muhlenberg put them far from their goal. The girls rebounded on a 5-1 conference run with a first time ever win at Ursinus in overtime. With their overall record of 12-6 along with a conference record of 6-4, the Shorewomen began to see serious hints of playoffs in their future. The team was happy to know that with its win at Bryn Mawr that it had clinched the final playoff spot, a prominent goal the girls had established back in October. Facing them in the first round of the playoffs was Johns Hopkins, a team that the Shorewomen had played tough in the past but had never quite been able to beat. The team went in confident and poised. However, it was just not the Shorewomen's night. They fell behind and the experience of the Blue Jays paid off as they gradually built up a lead that the Shorewomen just couldn't touch.

As disappointing as it was, this season was a great learning experience for the girls. The team loses only one senior and has a very strong nucleus of returnees who will be back for the Shorewomen in 1999-2000, including four starters and many key reserves.

Almost there...

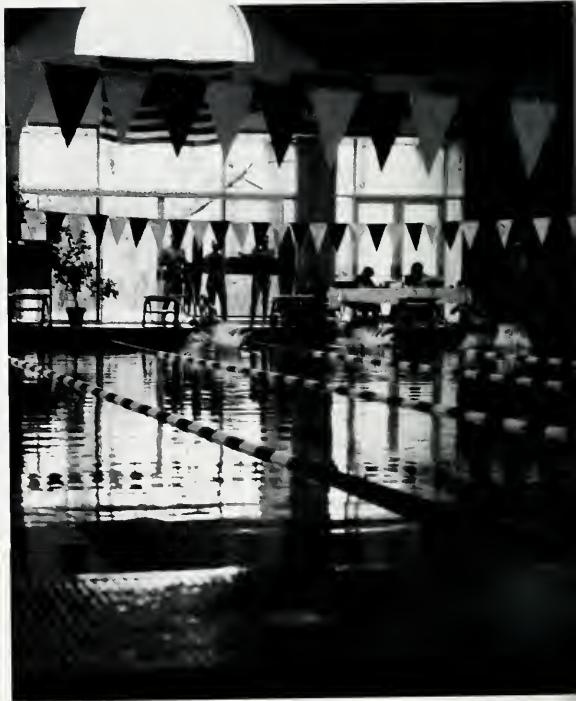

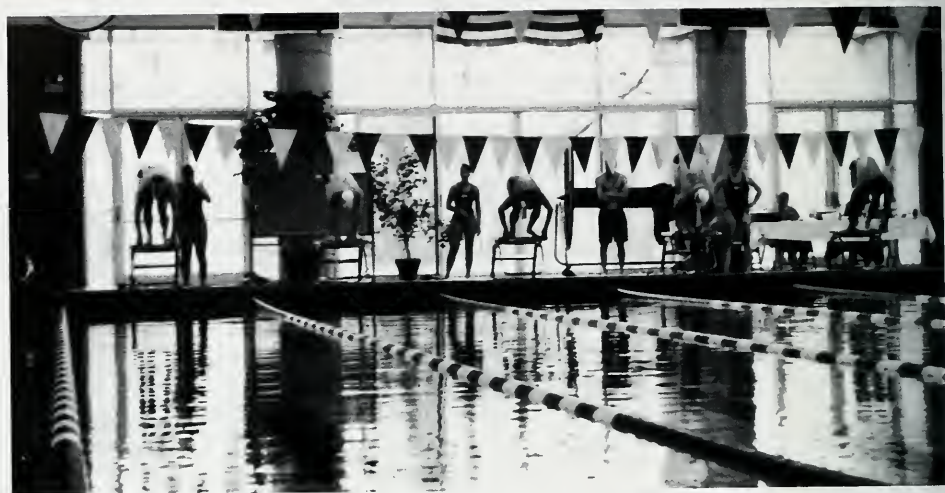

Headed by captains Corey Davis and Steve DeVore, the WC Men's Basketball Team appeared in the Centennial Conference championship game this year. The Shoremen fought to maintain an a winning record this season, but in February the hard work paid off, as they won 8 straight games to advance to the Conference Championship, defeating Ursinus to enter the semifinals, where the Shoremen ousted nationally ranked Franklin & Marshall.

While the team lost to Johns Hopkins in the final, WC imposed a strong presence this season. Earl Piner, Greg Adams, DeVore, and Shawn Peterson graced the Conference's 'Weekly Honor Role,' while DeVore and Adams earned 'Player of the Week' honors. Both DeVore and Piner made Second-Team All conference, while Adams gained an honorable mention. In addition, two players set playoff records: Adams scored 70 points and Peterson grabbed 29 rebounds.

Adams led the team in scoring this year, boasting double digits in 26 of 27 games; DeVore and Piner followed with 23 and 20, respectively. Peterson led for rebounds in 15 games. While the Shoremen lose senior-captain Corey Davis, six upperclassmen with starting experience and several key reserves will return next season, leaving the team's nucleus largely intact.

Men's Swimming

Swim for it!

As the 1998-99 season began, the men's swim team faced a number of challenges. After losing two of the team's top point scorers from the previous season, there were doubts if the team could even equal their past successes.

Led by seniors Mike Butler, co-captain, and Fabio Leite, an important addition to the '99 squad, the young team quickly erased any doubts. They opened the first semester with two dominating wins against Essex and Ursinus as well as respectable showings against conference powers Gettysburg and Franklin & Marshall.

The team's winter training trip provided yet another series of challenges. Along with a freezing pool, a broken down van and a seemingly endless road trip, illness and injury tested the team's focus and determination. But upon its return to Chestertown the team proved its early success was no fluke. Wins against Elizabethtown and St. Mary's would be two of team's biggest wins.

At the conference championship, the guys' focus and intensity paid off. Sophomore Ryan Staszak led the way winning 7 medals, 3 individuals and 4 relays. Junior co-captain Scott Smizik won a gold medal for the men, recording WC's 2nd fastest time ever in the 50 free, 21.25, and making a NCAA "B" time standard for nationals. Junior Dan McCurdy and Butler swam lifetime bests in the 200 freestyle and 200 breaststroke respectively, placing them on WC's all-time top 5 swims. The entire team was able to meet and break personal and team goals at the meet.

The 1998-99 men's swim team enjoyed a number of successes. Despite small numbers, they accepted all challenges and rose above them. With only two men lost to graduation, the team is optimistic and excited about its chances to improve its standing in the conference and nationally next year.

The Washington College women's swim team ended the season with a record of 6-7 overall and placed fifth in the Centennial Conference Championships. Led by captains Krista Northup and Kristin Hill, the sho'women were a small, but strong team this year. At Championships, freshman Kyle Geissler swam to a gold medal in the 200 back and also broke a school record in this event. Vanessa Makarewicz, also a freshman, won a bronze medal in the 100 back. Also placing in the conference meet were the following: Kristin Hitzemann and Emily Cherry in distance freestyle. Lanae Arnold and Leah Golshani in sprint freestyle. Krista Northup and Nicole Williams in Butterfly and Individual Medley. Kristin Hill and Eiko Matsumura in backstroke and Anna Gruber and Tracie Gee in breaststroke. The women are proud of their accomplishments in the pool and also in the classroom as they reached their goal of achieving a combined GPA of a 3.3. The motto continues that "we work ours to kick yours..."

Next Year?

Under first-year coach J.B. Clarke, WC Men's Lacrosse had an incredible year, going 12-2 during the season and making the national playoffs for the fourth consecutive year. In more than have of their games, the Shoremen defeated their opponents by 10 or more goals. On offense, Jon Fellows led the team for points with 25 goals and 25 assists, John Fuller netted an amazing 39 goals, Matt Swift added 28 goals, and Justin McCarthy contributed 22 assists. McCarthy, Fuller, Jeremy Stoehr, and Scott McGilvray all became First-Team Centennial All-Stars, while Swift and J.D. Radebaugh earned Second-Team honors. Radebaugh took most of the face-offs, winning 113 of 181, and in a stifling 90 man-down situations, the Shoremen defense allowed only 16 goals. In Conference play, the Shoremen ousted Dickinson 21-3, F&M 11-6, Haverford 21-5, Swarthmore 21-2, and Western Maryland 23-9. The team also traveled to Syracuse to defeat one of their greatest rivals, Nazareth College. Few expected the Shoremen to fair so well after losing Coach John Haus at the end of last year, but the team proved that winning legacies rarely diminish so easily.

The women's team returned to the Head of the Charles in Boston in the fall, and continued their exceptional fall season with a gold medal at the Frostbite Regatta in the JV four event. After spring training in Florida, which senior captain Jen Simpson called "the most intense and productive week" of the season, the team went on to find nearly unprecedented success in their spring season. Both the varsity and JV eights surprised competitors at the SIRAs in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and came away from the Atlantic Collegiate League Sprints with three first place and two second place finishes. Both boats have qualified for the Champion International Regatta for the second year, and the varsity eight has high hopes of going to the NCAA championships at the end of May. It was a year of fun and challenges, and both teams thank the coaches for their time, encouragement, and patience.

The men's team had an encouraging fall season, placing well in the three races they attended, including the Stonehurst Capitol Invitational Regatta in Rochester, NY. Building on this foundation during the winter months of indoor training, the men's varsity four boat placed first in several important races in the spring, including the Occoquan Sprints and the Atlantic Collegiate League Sprints. The JV four also performed well, winning a match race against the Florida Institute of Technology and placing well in many varsity races. The men's and women's teams combined to tie Johns Hopkins University for the Casperson Cup and to win the inaugural Maryland State Rowing Championships. The varsity boat is headed to the prestigious Dad Vail Regatta in Philadelphia on May 8, hoping from there to qualify for the IRAs.

Full speed ahead....

The 1998 season proved to be the most successful yet for the Washington College Sailing team. The team is fortunate to have Bill Ward, a 1994-1995 All American sailor from Georgetown University, as its new coach. Under Ward's guidance, the Shoremen competed against the top schools in the nation every weekend of the fall and spring seasons. For the first time in the team's ten year history, Washington qualified for the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Sailing Association's (MAISA) Championships. To qualify, the shoremen placed in the top three at the Area C Dinghy Eliminations--no small feat since Washington sails in the most competitive area in the toughest region in the country. At the MAISA championships, the team sailed against the best teams in MAISA, which is regarded nationally as the most competitive in all of college sailing. The top six schools in MAISA are all ranked in the top eleven nationally. The team's successes this year indicate surprising growth for the team in only its second year as a varsity sport.

Sophomore skipper Rocky Chamberlin enjoyed great success in the Fall, placing third out of fleets of fifteen in three separate regattas.

The team lost two of their starters in the spring when David Kissling and Joanna Johnson went abroad.

What a Racket!

Under the leadership of Coach Matt Rose, the Washington College Women's Tennis Team endured through a tough season. Susanna Kanther, one of the team's veteran players, dealt with injuries for most of the spring; while she played, she and Rebecca Corbin notched a 2-0 doubles record in the Centennial Conference. But in spite of Kanther's absence, younger players filled her shoes admirably. Erin Spatafore joined Corbin to earn a 3-5 doubles record in the conference and a 4-6 doubles record overall. Alice Stein and Jen Gottlieb also fared well at doubles, scoring a 2-0 record in the conference.

In conference singles, Kanther went 2-0 while Corbin went 4-6. As a freshman at the tough number one spot, Spatafore went 2-8, which demonstrates promise as she faced the strongest players in the entire conference—this performance made her the team's 'Most Valuable Player.' Corbin secured the 'Most Improved Player' award. While the team encountered many challenges, many of its top players will return next year, and as youth turns to experience, they hope to become a formidable force in the conference next fall.

Tennis Anyone?

Coached by Matt Rose and led by senior co-captains Tomas Lejarraga and Gustavo Vincentini, the Washington College Men's Tennis Team not only won its sixth consecutive Centennial Conference title, but also went undefeated in the conference for the sixth consecutive year. Legarraga and Vincentini made 1st-team all conference for both singles and doubles play. Legarraga's younger brother, Jose, also took 1st-team honors for singles, while he and Nick Jovanovich earned 1st-team doubles honors and won the conference championship. The Lejarraga brothers, Jovanovich, and Vicentini all went undefeated in the conference.

In overall singles play, Tomas Lejarraga compiled a 20-7 record this year at the #1 position, Vincentini finished 23-4 at the #2 position, and Jose Lejarraga ended up 15-2 at the #3 position. In doubles, the Tomas Lejarraga/Vicentini combination went 21-5 in #1 doubles, while the Jose Lejarraga/Jovanovich combination went 18-2 at the #2 spot.

Margas Korgesaar and Charles Athey also fared well in doubles play, earning a 4-1 record in the conference and an 8-7 record overall. While the team will lose some strong seniors, it will enter next season with some key players, including its young star, Jose Lejaragga.

Washington College

217th Commencement

Sunday, May 23, 1999

Following a procession of fife and drums on May 23rd, 1999 Washington College graduated its 217th class. Following an invocation by Pastor Steven Huhta, father of senior Carmen Huhta, the Senior Class Speaker, Eric Johnson addressed his class. He spoke of the Washington College family, our infamous May-Day, and several individuals who will always be remembered at WC despite their passing.

The alumni citations this year were presented to two men, Richard Holstein, class of 1968 and to Richard Smith, class of 1966. Mr. Holstein, a dentist by profession, spoke about apathy and operation smile. Mr. Smith, a professor of chemistry, warned the crowd that it was a bad thing to put a professor in front of the microphone. He promised to make his remarks short, and spoke about working for an A.I.D.S cure.

Three men were honored by the college with honorary degrees during this ceremony. The first was Chen Yang, a theoretical physicist who won a Nobel Prize in 1957 for his work in particle physics. Mr. Yang spoke to the class of 1999 about troop transport from china, dirty words, his work at Stonybrook, and WC President John Toll visiting him at Princeton. The second degree was awarded to Don Higginbotham, a military historian and writer on the American Revolution. He reminded everyone to maintain their curiosity of history. He also advised the graduating class to have an open mind, and not to go with the usual way of doing things. The final degree was awarded to John F. Kennedy Jr.. Mr. Kennedy, editor of the political magazine George, and head of the nonprofit foundation "Reaching Up", which helps people with disabilities. Mr. Kennedy wondered why he himself did not attend Washington College, and spoke about George Washington and health care work.

Following these speakers the class of 1999 received their degrees and the presentation of faculty and student awards commenced. This years Sophie Kerr Prize went to Luke Owens. Various other prizes were awarded and are listed on the following pages.

Editors Notes

Dan Vayda

I would personally like to thank everyone who helped us finish this book once again.

Heidi - See, I told you we could do it! Once again thank you. You know I could not do this without you. love me.

Chris - Don't worry, it will get better.

Larry - You are in charge of the 4th floor this year (1999-2000). Training begins Monday.

Jordy - Almost done, umm..now what? We'll see...

Heidi Nadler

Finally... another one done.

I just want to thank everyone who helped us to finish this, however late we were.

A special thanks goes to Diane Larrimore... I love you Diane! You are too awesome. But next year, it is your turn to stay sane!!!!

The rest of Student Affairs: What will you do once I'm gone? One more year to figure it out.

Mom- thanks for reading all of the sports stuff. My spelling will get better some day :-)

Shoaf- One more year! Thanks... I needed the help this year.

Theresa- I've survived so far.. almost done.

To the Senior Class: Thank you for doing all that you did for WC.. and I'll miss some of you... you know who you are! :-)

Chris- Alrighty then... You are still gonna help out... Dan and I can't do this alone. You are almost done darlin'...

You'll make it.. I promise!

Danny--- How did you convince me to do this another year?

We need a better staff.. Well.. more of one!!!!!! Almost done kiddo... then what? Loves ya! -lil me

Colophon

Volume seventy-three of the Pegasus was published and printed by Jostins, Inc., located in State College, Pennsylvania. The cover, and overall theme and design of this book were created and produced by Dan Vayda, Heidi Nadler, and Rich Schrenker. The cover is studio three embossed. The base material is maroon 490 with two applied colors, silver foil number 381, and cream number 340. The grain is cordova number 1174. The end sheets were printed in 280 white, printed in tempo 194 maroon.

The book measures 7 3/4" x 10 1/2".

The fonts used in the book vary between the sections. The divider pages are all done in Pepitia MT, of varying pts. Headings for the Activities, and Senior sections were done in Palatino, 24 pt. font. Headings for the Residential Life section were done in Dom Casual, 24 pt. font. The Greek section headings were done in Palatino, 30 pt. font. The sports section heading were done in New Century Schlbk, 48 pt. font. The rest of the text in the book was either Times, AGarmond, Palatino, New Century Schlbk or Bookman, done between 8 and 11 pt. font.

Pegasus staff members took all photos unless otherwise noted. Those photos that were not taken by the staff or credited were donated by faculty or students of Washington College. The photos in the Senior section were donated by individual seniors. Film was developed through the Washington College Bookstore.

All of the copy throughout the book was written by staff members, with the exception of the "Top 10 Lists." These are credited to the Late Show with David Letterman.

We would like to thank and acknowledge Fuji Film for donating film to us this year.

Finally, we would once again like to express our appreciation to everyone who provided assistance and services to help produce this years book.

Until Next Time....
